I'm Lauren Timperley, a multi-disciplinary designer based in Lancaster. I've 10+ years' experience in-house, agency, freelance and contracting; I've been the sole designer, as well as part of marketing and creative strategy teams; I've done it all. I believe design and creativity runs through all departments and touches every aspect of a businesses' output, with UX being the most important factor when it comes to creative solutions.

I'm predominantly a creative, and design is where my passion lies; yet I have a technical mind-set too. I have worked closely with developers so understand design restrictions when they're translated into code. I know my way around WordPress and working within a CMS.

I'm always honing my skills in an industry that is constantly evolving. I love meeting like-minded individuals and mentoring junior creatives, learning along the way is what makes me love being a creative and part of such an ever changing and diverse community.
